While the people from the country were patiently awaiting the arrival of the train from Beaufort, R. M. Mixon, who is opposing Congressman Byrnes, of the second district made a brief adof the recond district made a brief address to the voterr of Jasper county. This candidate slightly muddled the waters of Senator Smith by springing in advance one of his pet joke: as L. D. Jennings did at Beaufort. In the brief hour here today the candidates had small opportunity to develop any new angles to their customaty spechas; what they had to see ry speeches; what they had to say was carefully said, chiefly by what was left unmentioned.

Compulsory education was strongly endorsed when John G. Clinkscales of Spartanburg, the compulsory educa-tion advocating candidates for gover-nor, was given a hearty reception by the men and particularly by a large number of women attending the meeting. Clinckscales devoted part of his address to a mild denunciation of his opponent, John G. Richards of Lib-erty Hill, whom he called upon to resign from his office as chairman of the railroad commission before asking him (Clinkscales) to relinquish his professorship at Wotford college. The remainder of his speech was given to an exposition of the needs of a state wide compulsory education law. Cheers and hisses and cat calls greeted John G. Richards, candidate
